
BBC LEARNING ENGLISH

Real Easy English

Mornings

This is a transcript of a spoken conversation and is not a word-for-word script.

Neil

Hello and welcome to Real Easy English, the podcast where we have real conversations in easy English to help you learn. I'm Neil.

Georgie

And I'm Georgie. You can read along with this podcast on our website where you can also find a free worksheet.

Neil

So, Georgie, how are you today?

Georgie

I'm very well, thank you. How are you?

Neil

I'm well, thank you very much.

Georgie

Good.

Neil

What are we talking about today?

Georgie

Today we are talking about our morning routines. That is what we usually do in the mornings before work.

Neil

OK, let's get started.

Georgie

So, Neil, do you like to get up early or do you prefer to sleep in?

Neil

It depends if I have had enough sleep. If I've had enough sleep, I can get up early. If I haven't, I want to sleep in. How about you?

Georgie

Well, I like the mornings sometimes because I feel like it's quieter. Not many people are up. I also feel like my brain works better in the mornings, so that helps. But I do like sleeping in sometimes, especially at the weekends.

Neil

So, Georgie, you said that your brain works best in the morning. Does that mean that you're a morning person?

Georgie

Yes, I think it does. I'm a morning person. That means someone that has a lot of energy at the start of the day.

Neil

Georgie, do you eat breakfast?

Georgie

That also depends. And I have a different breakfast routine depending if I'm working in the office or at home. So if I'm in the office, and you know this, I usually have a pastry or a croissant in the morning and a banana if I'm feeling good. But if I'm at home, I usually have eggs a bit later, around ten. What about you?

Neil

I always have breakfast before I leave the house.

Georgie

Wow.

Neil

Otherwise I'm very grumpy. So, at the moment I am having egg on toast for breakfast and then marmalade on toast as well. But not together.

Georgie

So, you said you always have breakfast. You never skip breakfast?

Neil

Never. Unless there's a very, very good reason.

Georgie

OK.

Neil

Like, I think the last time I skipped breakfast, I needed to get up at 3am to catch a flight.

Georgie

Yes. It's very strange to wake up at that time. It changes your routine, doesn't it? Because you don't feel hungry then.

Neil

So how about you, Georgie? Do you skip breakfast?

Georgie

Sometimes I skip breakfast, because when I wake up, I'm not hungry. So, if I don't eat breakfast straight away, I sometimes forget to eat breakfast, but then I have an early lunch.

Neil

Right.

Georgie

So, Neil, you said that it's hard to get up when you haven't slept well. Does that mean you oversleep, you sleep too long?

Neil

No. Unfortunately, I never oversleep. In fact, I usually wake up before my alarm. Do you oversleep?

Georgie

Well, I usually wake up with my alarm. I never wake up before my alarm. So sometimes if I don't set my alarm, I oversleep. That actually happened this week. But it was OK because I woke up in time for work. I didn't oversleep that much.

Neil

Right. Have you ever overslept so much that you've missed work or missed the start of the working day?

Georgie

Never work. But yes, to a flight. That was one of the most stressful mornings I've had.

Neil

Is there anything else, Georgie, that you do in the morning regularly?

Georgie

Well, regularly maybe not. But sometimes if I feel motivated, I manage to do some exercise in the mornings, either running, or actually, this morning I did a Pilates workout. What about you, Neil?

Neil

No, I can't exercise until later because my body doesn't enjoy that – especially running. All of my joints hurt.

Georgie

So what do you do in the mornings?

Neil

I like to know what the weather's going to be like. So I check the forecast and I choose my clothes so that I'm wearing the right thing for the type of weather.

Georgie

That's very sensible.

Neil

Especially in the United Kingdom because the weather can be different every day.

Georgie

That's very true. Make sure you've got your umbrella.

Neil

Or not.

Georgie

OK, let's recap the language we heard during the conversation.

Neil

We heard a few ways to talk about what time we sleep until. We heard sleep in, which means staying in bed and sleeping later than we usually do. And we also heard oversleep, which means sleeping longer than you should accidentally.

Georgie

We had get up, which is a phrasal verb we use to say stand up and leave your bed.

Neil

And we heard a morning person. Like you, Georgie, you're a morning person. A morning person is someone who likes the mornings, has lots of energy at the start of the day. I'm not really a morning person.

Georgie

We had skip, not do something that you usually do or should do. For example, sometimes I forget to eat in the morning, so I skip breakfast and have an early lunch instead.

Neil

That's it for this episode of Real Easy English. You can test what you've learned with our worksheet on our website. Find the link in the notes and go there.

Georgie

And if you want to learn more language to talk about your morning routine, I've made a video all about phrasal verbs for your morning routine. You can also find it at bbclearningenglish.com.

Neil

And next time we'll talk about our evening routines, what we get up to in the evenings.

Georgie

See you next time.

Neil

Goodbye.